

Spring Term

Spot Light on

Inclusion

Ranelagh Primary School

From Holland to Hounslow, Ranelagh Primary has very quickly become established as a beacon for inclusive practice in Newham. At the heart of our school is an Inclusion model, where our children are based within a mainstream class, playing and learning alongside their friends. This has been our steadfast mantra of providing opportunities to allow children to be 'the best that they can be'. As a result, we follow a Social Inclusion model, where our children are based within a mainstream class, playing and learning alongside their friends. Thus, developing an environment where all children can learn from each other and show respect, tolerance and empathy towards each other in the classroom and beyond.

Our model of inclusion, relies on a bespoke and tailored approach, where learning can take place through the use of Tyrannosaurus Rex, Peppa Pig and even Thomas the Tank Engine! This eclectic approach does not faze our dedicated staff who strive to provide all children including those with Special Educational Needs (SEND) with experiences that are meaningful and memorable.

Our model of inclusion, relies on a bespoke and tailored approach, where learning can take place through the use of Tyrannosaurus Rex, Peppa Pig and even Thomas the Tank Engine! This eclectic approach does not faze our dedicated staff who strive to provide all children including those with Special Educational Needs (SEND) with experiences that are meaningful and memorable.

Shopping visits, swimming and rock climbing are regular occurrences for our children with SEND. These opportunities are vital to help them gain the skills to become lifelong learners and to become independent members of our community.

Ranelagh firmly believes in the importance of working together with our parents. We know they are the prime educators and we will constantly seek and share advice to provide a partnership that will make sure all children make progress whether that is knowing about their favourite snack to how they hold their pencil! All of this information is truly valued and used to support the learning.

