

*this is
my
story*

Matt Edwards has been a Trustee for the last couple of years. He is currently a Vice President with Bank of America serving as a Project and Business Manager within the firm's Global Markets organisation. Having relocated to the U.K. from the U.S. in late-2021, Matt brings with him a history of driving forward operational excellence, employee engagement and analysing resource trends in the financial services space. Outside of his "day-job", Matt has experience working with youth development-centric non-profit organisations that aim to improve specific outcomes key to primary aged pupil's reading proficiency. Through his involvement as a Trustee of TTLT and with programs such as Inspiring the Future, Matt is excited to continue putting his passion in inspiring and empowering children to good use!