

Rainbows are symbolic as they often appear after a storm.

They have appeared in the windows of the homes of people across the country as a positive message to passers by and to thank the NHS and all Key Workers.

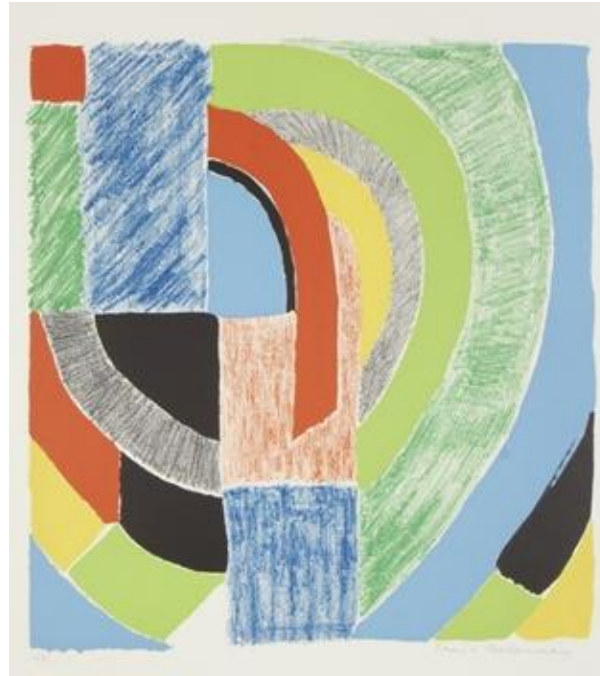

Rainbows in art

Sol LeWitt
Wall Drawing #1136 2004

Mademoiselle Maurice Wall with Metal – Jakarta 2018'

Sonia Delaunay
Rainbow

Rainbows have appeared in many artworks throughout history and have been portrayed in a variety of styles. They often symbolise a feeling of hope and positivity.

Patrick Hughes
Over the Moon 1978

Tony Cragg

Tony Cragg collects objects and organises them by their colour and shape.

Despite the objects being of a varying and irregular shape he achieves a crisp and recognisable outline through his precise composition.

Being inspired by Tony Cragg's colourful artworks you are going to look at the use of colour and composition to make your own temporary sculpture.

'Palette'
Tony Cragg 1984

'Britain Seen from the North' Tony Cragg, 1981

Your task

Collect as many items as you can of the different colours of the rainbow.

Organise the items by size and colour and arrange them into a rainbow.

The rainbow could be made on your floor or could be smaller and arranged on a table top.

You can use any objects for your sculpture, the object just needs to be mostly one colour. Here are some examples of what you could use:

- Clothes
- Toys
- Packaging
- Books

